

ARE YOU DRIVING AN SUV TO THE CORNER STORE?

The bootcamp to master digital tools
so you can exist on the web and still, keep it simple

low-data computing bootcamp

Most technology providers oversell.

They sell you an SUV to go to the corner store.

You can do so, but you don't have to.

You can exist in the digital world, and keep things simple.

Low-data computing is low maintenance, low cost, runs fast, prompts you to develop new know-how you can use for business, to make $; plus, you own and control your data.
